

Facing future without Fogler

P. Casey Daley ● Staff

You Greek, Me Greek owners paint over the face of former Vanderbilt basketball coach Eddie Fogler yesterday. Craig Savage, on the ground, said he knew Fogler's face would have to go once the coach took a job at the University of South Carolina April 3, but vandalism

Sunday night hurried him and Tim Breeze along. The mural had been painted last September and hadn't been vandalized — even during University of Tennessee games, Savage said. Meanwhile speculation grows over the vacancy and recruits. Stories on 1C.